

Sally Says She Won't—But She Does

"I'll pose any way you want—even stand on my head—but I won't pose with a policeman," cried Fan Dancer Sally Rand, but it was too late. Here is Sally, left, sans fans, in a Los Angeles court with Policewoman Cheryl Goodwin, center, and a reporter. Sally was in court to explain why she hadn't appeared earlier in connection with a suit brought by one Hazel Drain, who claims a Rand hit her during a scuffle in a Los Angeles theater.

Kaibab Forest
Fire Controlled

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Oct. 22.—(UP)—A blaze which swept several hundred acres of timber in the Kaibab forest north of here was brought under control today.

Fire fighters who worked nearly 36 hours on a two-mile line were relieved for the first time and only small patches of fire remained to be extinguished.

Forest rangers said they believed the flames had been started by careless hunters.

JUST COULDN'T WAIT

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Daniel Lenzner smiled yesterday when Warden Frank Ramsey told him that he had been paroled from the penitentiary and could go back to Springfield. But today Lenzner was held in the Cole county jail. He picked the pocket of another parolee while they were awaiting their release.

ASSASSIN KILLS
Capone Aid

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—(UP)—An assassin shot and killed Bert Delaney, 59, former superintendent of Al Capone's $20,000,000 bootlegging industry during prohibition days, as he stepped out of his automobile last night. It was the 11th gang slaying in Chicago in four months.

Police believed it had been motivated either by racketeer-union or gangland troubles. It bore the touch of the professional dry-era killer.

Delaney's sweetheart, Mrs. Ruth McAvoy, and her brother-in-law, Carl White, witnessed the slaying. They had driven up to Mrs. McAvoy's apartment with Delaney. They got out of the automobile and went to the building entrance. As they stood there, waiting for Delaney, the killer crept up behind him and fired three shots. Then, as Delaney lay on the sidewalk, the gunman pumped three more bullets into his back, fled down the street and jumped into an automobile driven by an accomplice.

Convict Admits
L. A. Slaying

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Robert Nixon, 13, Negro, confessed slayer of five women, who is scheduled to die in the electric chair next week, "cleared his conscience" today by confessing a sixth murder, that of Mrs. Rose Valdez, 20, Los Angeles housewife.

Police Lieut. Thomas R. Bryan of Los Angeles announced Nixon had made his latest confession at the Cook county jail where he is being held pending execution Friday for beating to death Mrs. Florence Johnson in her Chicago apartment last May 27.

Bryan said Nixon had not given details of the Valdez slaying.

CHINESE PLAN PEACE TALKS

FORD SPEEDS PRODUCTION

DETROIT, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Henry Ford may call 35,000 men to jobs within a few days, bringing his huge plant to peak production and the automobile industry generally to its highest level of the year, trade observers said today.

About 50,000 men are at work now in Ford's River Rouge plant, according to Ward's automotive survey. With final assembly on 1939 models already started, it was believed Ford production would reach full stride next week. The plant operates with 35,000 workers in peak production periods.

Sets Pace

New stimulants were being injected into the rising automobile industry. Leaders were confident that the industry, in the past a reliable barometer of general business conditions, again was setting the pace for general business recovery.

With Ford at full production, the industry's "Big Three" will have lifted production to levels in the neighborhood of those of the "golden era" before 1929.

Last night the Chrysler Corporation, which this week called back 34,000 employees to start work on 1939 models, announced that it increases for between 10,000 and 11,000 office workers receiving $300 a month or less. The increases are restoration of pay cuts made last March 16.

It was the second encouraging move in the industry of the week.

U. S. TO SHUN ORDER
IN NAZI SPY TRIAL

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The state department probably will ignore a subpoena from Federal Judge John C. Knox requesting details of its questioning of Guenther Gustav Rummich, a confessed spy who turned government evidence against three co-defendants, it was understood today. The information would reveal the entire workings of the spy ring.

Benjamin Matthews, counsel for Erich Glaser, on trial with Otto Herman Voss, an airplane mechanic, and Johanna Hofman, a hairdresser, sought to obtain the memoranda made by state department officials from the questioning of Rummich after his arrest. Judge Knox said he would issue the subpoena, but pointed out that it was within the discretion of the state department to ignore it.

Loved America

The trial was in adjournment over the week-end. It will be resumed Monday when Rummich, who blandly told the jury of 10 men and two women yesterday that he became a spy to trap his co-conspirators, because he loved America, his adopted country, again will be cross-examined.

Rummich told an intriguing story, so much so that Judge Knox intervened in the cross-examination. Rummich had said he was full of gratitude to the United States army in which he had served, and

Mystery Shrouds
Woman's Identity

Death of a woman whose body was found October 14 in the surf at Sunset Beach still remained a mystery, following appearance of Mrs. M. Cole of Los Angeles at Dixon's funeral chapel, Huntington Beach, today.

Mrs. Cole telephoned officials she believed the woman to be her sister, Mrs. Arthur C. Thomas, Los Angeles. Today she saw the body, said it was not that of her sister. The woman whose body was cut and bruised, may be the victim of murder, officers declare. So far, no clues to the identity have been found. Clothes of the woman, found clad only in a green bathing suit with white stripes, have never been recovered.

Two Escaped
Convicts Nabbed

FLORENCE, Ariz., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Two convicts, Clyde Cameron 30, and George Smith, 27, who fled the Arizona state prison in Warden John G. Eager's automobile were to be returned here today after their capture at Tucson last night.

The convicts, both former mechanics, were asked to warm-up Warden Eager's car Tuesday. They did, and drove it away.

Cameron told officers they abandoned the car in the brush north of the prison and then doubled back toward Tucson, hoping to board a freight train.

Both men were wearing clothing to replace their prison garb but refused to tell where they obtained it.

Form Wage-
Hours Rules

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Wage-Hour Administrator Elmer F. Andrews and his staff worked overtime today on rulings for the guidance of businessmen in running their factories, stores and offices in accordance with the fair labor standards act.

The law, which establishes a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour for the estimated 11,000,000 workers in interstate industries, does not limit the work day or work week when it goes into effect Monday.

All On Same Basis

Andrews explained that employers do not have to revamp their work schedules to go on a 44-hour week, but must pay time and one-half in cash for all work in excess of 44 hours in any week. Employees cannot accumulate over time and be paid for it in time off in a later week, he said.

Large and small businessmen engaged in interstate commerce are on the same basis under the law, which set up minimum standards "to help inoculate our economic system against the virus of sweatshops," Andrews said.

HUNGARY THREATENS TO WAR ON CZECHS

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Hungary may take armed action against Czechoslovakia within 48 hours unless the Prague government makes an offer enabling resumption of negotiations over its Hungarian-populated territories, informed politicians said today.

More than 500,000 Hungarian troops were massed along the Hungarian-Czechoslovak frontier as a result of the latest call to the colors. Radical elements in the army were said to be impatient and would not be held in check long.

Demand Negotiations

These elements demanded that Czechoslovakia offer immediately to resume negotiations, hinging chiefly upon the cession to Hungary of the border towns, Komaron, Kaschau, Mukacs and Seregszasz.

The government and Hungarians generally rejected Czechoslovakia's previous offers. It was asserted that Czech offers would give Hungary less than half her "just rights."

The original Czech offer of 10 per cent of the Hungarian demands rose to 40 per cent during the course of four fruitless days of negotiations at Komaron, it was asserted. Now, according to quarters usually well informed, Czechoslovakia must grant at least 60 per cent of the Hungarian demands before Hungary will consider re-opening the negotiations.

Registration
Sets Record

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Interest of California citizens in the Nov. 8 election was shown today in the final official registration figures which set a record mark of $611,416 for all parties.

Democrats held a margin of more than three quarters of a million votes over their Republican rivals. Totals for the two major parties were Democrats 2,144,360, Republicans 1,293,929.

Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan said a contributing factor to ward the high total undoubtedly was the controversy surrounding the $30 every Thursday pension plan.

The Townsend party, officially registered as a party for the first time this year, listed 32,970. Progressive party total was 11,988.

URGES MARK ANNUAL FLIGHT OF SAN JUAN MISSION BIRDS

With the swallows of San Juan Capistrano scheduled to leave Mission San Juan Capistrano tomorrow, a program in observance of the event was broadcast from the mission at 9:45 o'clock this morning over a National Broadcast company hookup. Another radio program is scheduled for 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The program this morning included a talk by the Rev. Father Arthur Huthinson and songs by the mission chorus. The broadcast was conducted by Clinton "Buddy" Twist.

Sermon Theme

Capt. Albert N. Park Jr., pastor of the Presbyterian community church of San Juan Capistrano, has selected for his Sunday morning sermon, "Truth About Swallows."

Each year the swallows depart from the mission on St. John's Day, tomorrow, and arrive just as promptly on the day dedicated to St. Joseph, March 19, the following year.

Beach Council Moves To Block Tideland Drilling

A stringent ordinance designed to halt further tideland oil drilling was given first reading as an emergency ordinance by the Huntington Beach city council this morning. Second reading and adoption will take place October 28. The action was unanimous.

The measure is designed to keep the Southwest Exploration company from carrying out its contract of drilling 87 wells into the tidelands west of Twenty-third street and also to prevent the drilling of 10 new wells east of Twenty-third street under a state contract. The state has asked for bids on the latter project.

Under the ordinance, a company cannot drill closer than 100 feet to a railway line nor less than 35 feet from a street, must present proof of right-of-way, must secure a permit from the city engineer and must submit maps and other data on the project.

The city has refused a two per cent royalty and $40,000 bonus from the Southwest Exploration company.

QUIZ NEW SUSPECT
IN WARREN MURDER

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Police said today they believed their arrest of Van L. Starr, 20, might lead to the solution of the slaying May 15 of Mathias Warren, 73, father of District Attorney Earl Warren of Alameda county.

Starr, formerly employed by the elder Warren to cut lawns and do odd jobs, had been sought, police said, since he dropped from sight the day after Warren was found beaten to death with an iron pipe.

Acted on Tip

Police Chief Robert Powers said Starr's arrest followed a secret tip that he had returned to Bakersfield. Starr said he had been in Sacramento since before the crime was committed. He denied any connection with the killing.

Chief Powers said, however, he would question Starr about reports he had said he knew an "old man" with plenty of money and was going to "tap him for the roll."

The search for the aged Warren's slayer, because of the prominence of his son, was one of the most intensive in Bakersfield history. The son aided authorities in tracking down all clues.

Blame Speed, Fog
For Fatal Crash

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 22.—(UP)—High speed and fog were responsible for the automobile accident 40 miles east of San Diego last night which killed one youth and possibly broke the back of another. Deputy Coroner Dave Gershon reported today.

Raymond Draper, 20, Lake Wohlford, was killed instantly when the car in which he was riding careened off the road near Valley Center, turned over, and crushed him to death.

Another passenger in the car, Charles Wilson, 17, Valley Center, suffered a possible back fracture and broken ribs.

The driver of the car, Jack Counts, 19, escaped with minor injuries.

NOTED WRITER DEAD

MACON, Ga., Oct. 22.—Harry Stillwell Edwards, whose Aeneas Africanus—the story of a wanderings of a southern Negro—sold 1,000,000 copies, died early today of bronchial pneumonia. He was 84.

Reach Settlement
In Labor Row

WESTWOOD, Cal., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Peaceful labor relations in this small community whose sole industry is the Red River Lumber Company were restored today in an out-of-court settlement reached while national labor relations board hearings were in progress.

The settlement pact was signed by representatives of the company, the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization.

It provides for the rival unions to participate in an election to determine the collective bargaining agency of mill workers when called by the labor board; a clause that the company will not interfere with the unions; and arrangements for back wages and the reinstatement of 44 CIO workers.

Urge Boycott Of
"Dictator" Goods

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Boycott of goods from dictator-ridden nations was favored today by the California State grange.

The boycott was urged in a resolution adopted by the grange in its convention which closed here yesterday. The grange meets at Chico in 1939. Two ballots were necessary to eliminate the candidates of San Jose, Stockton and Santa Cruz.

Other resolutions demanded an investigation of camps scattered over the nation in which youths allegedly are receiving military training and asked Congress to strengthen deportation laws to deport any law violating aliens.

Traditional Event

Their punctuality, however, is a tradition at the mission.

Each St. John's Day, for as far back as the oldest Indian can remember, the birds have risen in one mass flock wheeled over the mission, and disappeared out to sea.

Ask Bids On Levee Work

New bids on the Santa Ana river levee project, as well as flood works on San Juan and Hickey creeks, will be opened by the county supervisors October 28. It was decided at a special meeting late yesterday, when the board received formal approval of the state for readvertising the job. This approval came in a letter from State Engineer Edward Hyatt.

The Santa Ana river work will be contracted in one piece, instead of in six sections, the plan originally attempted unsuccessfully. The board rejected all former bids, being threatened with litigation no matter which bids were accepted.

Contracts for the San Juan creek and Hickey creek jobs will be awarded separately, it was announced.

Supervisor Steele Finley, of Santa Ana, voted against yesterday's action. Supervisor N. E. West who had joined with Finley in opposing the new program at an earlier meeting, was absent yesterday.

"PERFECT HUSBAND"
ACQUITTED BY JURY

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Rudolph Sikora, 31, the "perfect" husband, acquitted of murder last night for killing the man who won his wife's love, indicated today that he would make no attempt to win her back.

"I can never feel the same toward her again," he said, "and I don't suppose she can feel the same toward me."

Still Loves Her

He said he still loves her. But she mourns Edward Solomon, 35, an accountant—the man Sikora shot and killed on a street corner last August 22.

A jury of 11 married men and a bachelor, after two hours deliberation, agreed unanimously on one ballot last night that Sikora was not guilty by reason of temporary insanity at the time of the slaying. In effect, they agreed with defense contentions that he had acted within provisions of the "unwritten" law when he fired the fatal shots.

Russell F. Hornburg, the foreman, said he and his fellow jurors had felt Sikora was no criminal.

"Protected Home"

"He acted in a way that should protect the sanctity of the American home," he said.

Solomon, a university man, urbane, handsome, had attracted Sikora's pretty wife, Margaret, 22, by reading her poetry and talking with her in side street rendezvous about culture and music, showing her a glamor Sikora never had.

She was unrelenting in her attitude against her husband after the slaying and said she could never forgive him for destroying the "only man" she had ever loved. She testified against him before a jury qualified to inflict a death penalty.

Labor Dispute

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—(UP)—End of San Francisco's two major labor disputes was expected to be settled definitely today while outside mediators expressed hope of an early settlement of the second.

Warehousemen members of the CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union met this afternoon to vote on an agreement ending a four-month dispute which closed more than 130 warehouses.

The agreement was reached earlier this week at mediation conferences attended by Paul C. Smith, newspaper executive and has been accepted by the members of the San Francisco Distributors' association.

Hearst Plans To

SAN SIMONE, Cal., Oct. 22.—(UP)—William Randolph Hearst, newspaper publisher, tonight will reply to a radio speech of Winston Churchill in which the former first lord of the British admiralty declared that the United States "do not wash its hands" of Europe's dictatorship problem.

Hearst's speech will be broadcast over the blue network of the National Broadcasting Company and by shortwave to foreign countries at 5 p. m. PST.

Optimistic?

The grim countenance of Dr. Castillo Najera, above, Mexican ambassador to the United States, belies his optimistic report to Washington newspapermen after a conference with Secretary of State Cordell Hull. Dr. Najera said there were "good hopes" the dispute over expropriation of American properties in Mexico may soon be settled.

RULING ON WPA AID TO STRIKERS ASKED

FRESNO, Cal., Oct. 22.—(UP)—A ruling from Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, on whether federal agencies should care for agricultural workers who refuse private employment was sought today by the Associated Farmers of California.

Members of the farm organization asserted at the close of an all-day session here last night that because the state employment service has withdrawn its recognition of a walkout of cotton pickers in Kern county as a strike, relief agencies should not assist persons who refuse to accept employment in the cotton fields.

"Not A Strike"

W. B. Camp of Bakersfield, president of the Kern county unit of the Associated Farmers, forwarded the request for a ruling to Hopkins through W. P. Lawson, Northern California chief of the WPA.

The farm organization contended that the walkout in Kern county cannot be considered a strike because picking is being carried on at the normal rate. The strikers are demanding $1 per 100 pounds in place of the prevailing wage of 75c per 100.

ADVERTISING IS TERMED AID TO RECOVERY; FORCES VOLUME

DEL MONTE, Cal., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Key men in the advertising industry returned to their positions in various parts of the country today after two-day discussions dominated by predictions that business improvement is possible, and probable.

In conferences and talks at the fourth annual convention of the Pacific Council of the American Association of Advertising Agencies the advertising men and others prominent in the magazine and publishing fields stressed the increasing importance of advertising in the national economy.

Stimulates Recovery
George B. Parker, editor in chief of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, said "advertising more than any other form in modern life, can stimulate the thing which this country must have if it is to pull out of volume."

Parker warned against the dangers of inflation by government decree which he said would result as the "easy way out" unless volume of business could be increased.

"On that alone," he said, "depends whether we will prosper or go bust; whether our national debt will be paid; our budget balance; our credit preserved; and our unemployment problems cured."

Another "keynote" speaker was Thomas H. Beck, head of the Crowell publishing company, who broadly satirized "pseudo-scientific" research tests and propaganda adverse to nationally advertised brands of merchandise.

FRENCH CABINET MOVES TO INSURE DEFENSE CONTRACTS
PARIS, Oct. 22.—(UP)—The cabinet, sitting as a formal council of ministers under President Albert Lebrun, voted today to take penalizing action against all who fail to work the supplementary hours ordered by the government in the arms industry.

The decision was intended to back up the recent decree authorizing extension of the 40 hour week in key industries in order to speed up national defense contracts.

Reveals Plans
Premier Edouard Daladier reported to the meeting on the economic and financial situation and plans for emergency recovery decrees.

The cabinet approved also an extensive shakeup of the diplomatic service as the first move in a re-orientation of foreign policy, but withheld publication.

It had been decided that Andre Francois-Poncet, ambassador to Germany, should go to Rome and, after recognizing King Victor Emmanuel as "Emperor of Ethiopia," march up relations with Italy.

Francois-Poncet is to be replaced at Berlin by Robert Coulondre, ambassador to Moscow.

New Moscow Envoy
Emile Nagaiar, ambassador to China, is expected to be the next ambassador to Moscow.

Erik Labonne, ambassador to the Spanish Loyalist government, is to be sent to Tunis as resident general.

Labonne is not to be replaced, it was understood, and his withdrawal will be the first move toward putting the Loyalists and Nationalists on an equal basis. France is to be represented in Spain by consuls, similar to the agents now assigned to Nationalist cities without diplomatic status.

state relief organization, reiterated his stand that no relief will be given by his organization to pickers who refuse private employment.

Replying to charges that the farm security organization has given new life to the walkout by feeding the strikers, Jonathan Garst, head of the FSA, said the purpose of his organization is to feed every agricultural worker who is hungry regardless of employment or other conditions.

In the south, had announced that they would shut down rather than comply. Andrews denounced a "small and scattering minority" of employers, who he said, "apparently are unwilling or incapable of contributing to the common good."

He accused them of threatening to suspend operations "in an effort to bring the law into disrepute, evidently with the hope of intimidating the wage and hour division in its administration of the law's provision."

He pledged that his staff will enforce the act "uniformly and compellingly, with forbearance but without partiality."

Handicapped by a small staff, Andrews and his aides worked late last night preparing the last of a series of important rulings. They planned to work tonight and all day Sunday to prepare for enforcement work and to supply information to industrialists and workers.

Two rulings—one to inform employers the type of records needed to show compliance with the law, and another, setting up regulations for seasonal industries to apply for partial exemptions from the hours provisions—were anticipated today.

that he took up espionage only to gather evidence to win his reinstatement and clear himself of being a deserter.

Judge Knott then interrupted and asked the witness if he would have turned the plans of the airplane carriers, Enterprise and Yorktown, over to his German employers if he had them.

"I wouldn't have done it," Rumrich replied calmly. "I wouldn't have sent them to Germany."

Deserted Army
Recounting the events which led to his turning spy, Rumrich surprised the jury. He admitted an inordinate pride in his Hungarian ancestry, but explained that it was his fellow-soldiers' ridicule of his accent which led him to desert the army the first time.

He served six months for desertion, was reinstated and then won the rank of sergeant.

Then his drinking got him into trouble in the Canal Zone. He neglected his work and, fearing discovery, again deserted. From then until his arrest last February, Rumrich said, he feared capture and was obsessed with a desire to clear his name.

Ford Speeds Up Production Plans

Earlier, General Motors corporation announced jobs for 35,000 more workers in its 69 factories and restoration of cuts for all salaried employees receiving less than $300 a month.

At the same time Ward's reports disclosed that automobile production this week reached the highest level since Dec. 18, 1937. Alfred H. Ward, president of the trade publication, estimated production at 68,630 units as compared with 50,540 last week. He said constantly rising orders at all factories had caused the spurt.

At the Plymouth factory, 30,000 unfilled orders were on the books. Other concerns also reported unfilled orders and dealers throughout the country were clamoring for cars. Many autoists, it was reported, are buying cars unseen.

Ward predicted that this year from 3,500,000 to 4,000,000 cars and trucks would be put up for sale.

Urge Mediation
Chungking was to be the new capital to replace Hankow, as Hankow had replaced Nanking, for a new phase of the war.

Sir A. Clarke Kerr, British ambassador to China, was expected to go to Chungking and there confer with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek on the possibilities of British-German mediation, it was understood. Reliable sources said that British and German representatives already had advanced the idea of mediation at Tokyo.

Japanese troops were fully in occupation of Canton, and reports of treachery were circulated by Japanese sources, only to be denied from the Chinese side. The principal allegation was that Gen. Yu Han-mou, Chinese military governor of the Canton area and Kwangtung province generally, had "decided to surrender."

Britain's "Aerial Fence" Needs Mending

Great Britain's air defense experts conceived the idea of erecting an "aerial fence" of captive balloons trailing long grids of steel cables as a barrier to enemy bombing planes. The theory was that the invaders would run into the trailing cables or, if they flew over the "fence" they would be forced above good bombing range. In a recent demonstration five of the balloons, shown in the photo above, broke away and caused considerable damage to London houses with their trailing cables before they were recaptured. Nevertheless, the experts declared the experiment a success.

SERIAL STORY

MURDER TO MUSIC

BY NARD JONES

COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
MYRNA DOMBEY—heroine. Wife of the sensational swing band leader.
ROBERT TAIT—hero. Newspaper photographer—detective.
ANNE LESTER—Myrna's closest friend.
DANNIE FEELEY—officer assigned to investigate Ludden Dombey's murder.

Yesterday, Feeley and Tait are unable to identify the attacker, but the taxi driver remembers a cat meowing as he fell. Tait recalls the Dombey song success, "The Cat's Meow."

CHAPTER XVIII

NEITHER Tait nor Feeley saw any humor in the fact that they were quite as much in the dark as the unfortunate taxi driver. Certain that the wounded man could enlighten them no further they left the General Hospital a disconsolate pair if ever there was one.

On the steps of the hospital Feeley looked at Bob Tait. "I know a good beer tavern near here."

"Lead me to it," said Tait wearily.

Within the next five minutes they were seated in a back booth of beer parlor, a stein before each of them and a heaping bowl of popcorn between the steins. "Suppose," said Dannie Feeley, "that you start talking. You hire a taxi to take you on a foolhardy trip into the Millbay district. The driver gets knifed and thinks he heard a cat meowing. And you ask me if I ever heard of the cat's meow!"

"I mean the song," grinned Tait. "I told you about that song. If you paid any attention to swing music you'd know that song. The one that Lud Dombey was supposed to have written—and didn't."

Feeley nodded. "The one that was written by George Weeks. I remember."

"Yeah. So there's the chance that the guy who wanted to cut me up was our erratic friend, the unknown musician." Tait took a drag at his beer, leaned forward and went on excitedly. "Look, Dannie. Put yourself in his place. Suppose you'd been a third-rate musician all your life, living from hand to mouth—"

"I wish," said Feeley in a tired voice, "I was."

"All right, let's dream it, then. You are. All your life you've figured you are as good as some of these guys in the big dough. And maybe you really are. The breaks being what they are. Then you write a song, and you're sure it's pretty good. But the song publishers don't think so. They never heard of you, anyhow, and what jobs have you had and with what orchestra? But you have faith in this song—it's called 'The Cat's Meow'—and you know how Ludden Dombey is the king of swing. And this is a swing song. 'It's ready. It's a thing from the bowels of Africa. It's Beethoven and Irving of the jungle. You know it is, because you know music and you've got the feel. But you're stuck—because, somehow, some way, you didn't get the breaks. You begin to realize that the authors were nice guys all right, but they weren't quite right when they said that all men were created free and equal. You begin to tumble to the fact that something can happen between the time you were created free and equal and the time when you start to earn the daily bread. But that's all right. You're a good sport. You see that a guy named Ludden Dombey has got some breaks along with his hard work. So you take your song to him, and you ask him to put it over for you."

"I'm following you," said Dannie Feeley. "And I'll buy another beer."

Tait nodded. "Okay. . . . Well—you've taken your song to Lud Dombey and he sees something in it. It's decided that you ought to let him plug it under his own name. Maybe he decides that, or maybe you do. Anyhow, that's the way it's done. And the agreement he makes is all right with you. Then, under Ludden Dombey's guidance, the song becomes one of the greatest contemporary hit smashes. And then . . . Tait paused a moment. "Then Dombey doesn't pay."

"I'd be sore," said Feeley. "Naturally."

"Not only that, Dannie. The song would come to be the one thing in your life. You'd think of nothing else. You'd see Dombey rising on that song. You'd hear it a dozen times a day. You'd want to scream out, 'I wrote that—I wrote it, I wrote it!' But you don't. Because you've an agreement with Dombey, and you think probably he'll pay out in the end and maybe he's getting more out of the song than you would with your name of—well, George K. Weeks."

TAIT stopped long enough to let the waiter set down two fresh steins on the table. "Little by little, you get a little screwy on the subject of that song. Maybe you get a little hungry, too, and a little tired of spending your nights in 30-cent flop joints. So you up and shoot Ludden Dombey dead, after you've raised the price of a ticket to the Golden Bowl of the Pacific-Plaza."

Feeley nodded. "I get it. That sets me off. I hear that a guy named Robert Tait has been elected manager of Dombey's band. And I still haven't got my money—and by this time I'd like a little recognition, too. So I inveigle you down to the Millbay district and make some passes at you with a knife. And while I'm doing it I make a noise like a cat's meow—because that's the name of the song I got on my addled bean."

"That's it! That's what I mean."

Feeley grinned. "It sounds like something Leonard Macy would figure out with the help of that alienist, Doctor Darryl Mattie."

"Just the same it's a theory."

"Sure. And here's another one. Harris Rogers wanted to get even with you for doing him out of a soft job—with plenty of side money—and he figures to throw you off by making a noise like a cat. And the reason he does it is just because he thinks you'll cook up a fancy idea like the one you've been retelling to me."

"I agree with you, Dannie. That's another possibility, and probably it's a better one than mine. But what about that perfume?"

Feeley sighed. "You would bring that up. Are you sure you smelled that stuff outside the Claremont Apartments where Anne Lester and Myrna Dombey roomed together?"

"If you'd seen the blond, Dannie, you'd remember it perfectly. It was in the entrance of the Claremont and it came from the blond. It isn't the kind of perfume that Myrna would choose."

FEELEY regarded the younger man oddly. "I see. Then we've got to consider the possibility that the person who wanted to bleed you to death was the blond."

"We have."

"And that she also was the girl who knocked Dombey off?"

"Yeah."

Feeley shook his head. "I've had Mike Dunphy making the rounds of the names we got from Dombey's papers. But there was nothing doing. At least half of them were blonds, too."

Tait glanced toward the window. The first streaks of dawn were breaking into the all-night beer tavern. "What do you say we go back down to the Millbay district and have a look at that factory building now?"

"There're two things I'd rather do," said Feeley. "One is sleep, and the other is drink a third glass of beer. But when I see my duty . . ."

Bill Cook is not a big man physically, but he can take it on the telephone bright and early today, and the story gives you an idea of the kind of man Santa Ana Junior college has running its football team.

"Ed!" inquired Cook. "Say, I want to assume full responsibility for our failure to beat Pomona last night. I don't know what you're going to write but whatever it is I'm the guy to blame, not our players."

From that, Coach Cook relates the "inside story" of Santa Ana's goal-line flop victory was just around the corner—six mere yards, just a standing broad jump, I go into this because everybody knows by now—or strongly suspects—that the Dons would have scored their winning touchdown had Cook left on the field the players who had battered their way down to Pomona's six-yard line.

It was third down, four yards to go for what would have been a first down on the two-yard line. An ideal set-up. There was ample time and everything looked under control.

"In the first place," explained Cook, "I made a mistake of judging the distance to the goal line. I thought we had six yards to go instead of four. I offer no excuse for the blunder."

"In the second place, we were in coffin-corner and I wanted the boys to run something that would bring the ball out in the middle of the field so we could go either way—or pass—on fourth down."

"That's why I made the substitutions that and for the purpose of getting into our lineup the chaps I know to be our best blockers, Johnny Joseph for one."

"Well, you know what happened. We started throwing passes and they dropped incomplete."

And did Cook send in instructions to pass when running plays were clicking so merrily?

"I have nothing to say about that," said Cook. "The fault was mine and I accept full responsibility. Nobody else is to blame."

Coach Bill then waxed reminiscent.

"You know," he said, "I've watched coaches all my life make goal-line substitutions when everything was going o. k. and I've said to myself 'Cook, that's one boney you'll never pull.' But my golly, I woke up this morning and found out I had made that same mistake. Of course, I know now I should have left in those 'hot' players. But it is too late."

Cook has by no means given up hope for another conference flag.

"Why should I?" he asks. "Our kids are coming now and will improve week to week. We have some errors to correct. One of 'em is to concentrate on our running attack. We've been pass-crazy. But maybe I'm to blame for that, too, because I've tried to give the fans a lot of open football."

"Last year, you'll remember, we ran into a surprise tie at San Bernardino early in the season, but improved every game thereafter and outplayed San Bernardino in the 'rematch.' We are still in there pitching. We have a good team coming up; wait and see."

Cook thinks he found his best quarterback last night. Quarterback is what coaches call their signal-callers even when they play center. Rollo Beck is the man Cook thinks will get Davey Don rolling. The coach also praised especially Lynn Linker, Art Heinisch, Ted Tucker, Ed Nehring and Johnny Joseph for their work last night.

Next Friday's Games

Santa Ana at Chaffey; Pomona at Redlands (Thursday); Riverside at San Bernardino (night).

Famine follows the feast and so Sammy Saint, who lived on the fat of the football land last year, is eating crow today.

Bogged down in its most disastrous season in many years—even when outclassed in the old Coast league—the high school team lost its fifth successive game at Riverside yesterday.

The score, 12 to 6, did not truthfully reflect the difference between the clubs. Riverside fumbled away one touchdown and was halted a foot from another by the half-time gun. Held to two first downs all day, Santa Ana made only five yards through the whole second half. The struggle not only was costly to Saint prestige, it also ousted the team from titular running and probably cost it the services of its best back, Gene Hamaker. He aggravated an old knee injury.

The Saints got off to a running start and got most of the breaks, but just weren't good enough to hold off the powerful Bears.

Piper Rambles 62 yards

Wayne Piper, fast little halfback, put the Saints out in front with a breakaway run of 62 yards on the second play of the second quarter, after an even first period. The ball was on the Saint 36 when good blocking on an end run shook Piper loose. He went all the way. Bobbie Musick tried to plunge across for the extra point but was halted a yard short.

Piper almost made another touchdown a couple of minutes later. Santa Ana kicked off and Jim Bentley fumbled the ball on the 30-yard line when tackled. Musick whipped a pass to Piper who was all by himself on the 15-yard line with a clinch touchdown in sight until he dropped the ball on an easy catch.

Riverside soon tied the score at 6-6 on a 65-yard march, alternating with end runs and passes by Quarterback Dean Wilson and line plunges by Jim Bentley. A series of three first-downs put the ball on Santa Ana's 30. Then Wilson passed to Bob Meyer on the 9-yard line, and Meyer got away from one tackler and raced to a touchdown. Bentley tried for the point on a plunge but was stopped. Howard Elliott's fumble on the Saint 29 put Riverside in scoring position in the last minute of the half. Passes carried the Bears to Santa Ana's 2-yard line. With 1' seconds left, Bentley took two shots at center but failed to get the ball across.

Ralph Barnes' quick-kick that was partially blocked and rolled out of bounds on Santa Ana's 29 started Riverside rolling again in the third quarter. The Bears didn't waste any time. Wilson made 10 yards on the first play. Sheldon added 5 and Graham socked center for a first down on the Saint 5. Graham bucked it across on the next play, giving Riverside its 12-6 edge. Bentley's place-kick for the extra point was wide.

Riverside held the ball most of the last quarter and virtually scored once after Guard Horikawa recovered a stray lateral on the Saint 24. Wilson and Sheldon roared down to the 8 and Graham slashed into right tackle for 6 but fumbled when tackled there and Ralph Barnes recovered in the end zone for a Santa Ana touchdown.

The Bears got down to the Santa Ana 18 again before George Higashi broke up this rally at game's end by intercepting a pass on the 7.

Bill Was at end, Bob Webb at tackle and Ray Mercado at guard played well but most of the work of such Riverside players as Meyer and Skiver, ends; Horikawa, guard, and Bentley, Graham and Wilson in the backfield. Riverside fielded a strong eleven, especially formidable in the line, so its contest at Pomona Nov. 4 for the Citrus Belt league championship should be a spine-tingler.

An alert Newport Harbor halfback, Harris Cottle, gave Coach Dick S.aulding's Tars a 7-6 Sunset League victory over the Orange Panthers on the Harbor gridiron yesterday. He picked up a block-try for the extra point and galloped over the goal for the coveted one point margin mid-way in the fourth period.

With big Ellwood Beatty, brother of Coach Blanchard Beatty of Garden Grove, doing the lion's share of the ball-packing, the Tars drove 60 yards on a series of reverses and end runs to score the tying points. Beatty circled right end for nine yards and the touch-down. The attempted kick for extra point was blocked by Captain Dick Gunther, Orange end. Halfback Cottle retrieved the bounding piskin and gave his team a victory by running the ball over the goal stripe—much to the surprise of the Orangemen.

Coach Stewart White's Panthers tallied their lone score on a 75-yard drive in the third period. A pass from Charles Bell to Captain Gunther on the 10 yard culminated the scoring march. George Bell, Panther halfback, failed to add the extra point on a buck into the line.

A desperate last minute passing attack with Johnny Harms tossing to Gunther and Howard Luchau carried the ball to Newport's 20-yard line, where a pass interception ended the threat. The line plunging of Ed Ehaman, fullback, stood out for Orange. Lineups:

ARIZONA NIPS LOYOLA, 14-12

LOS ANGELES.—(UP)—Arizona's tricky Wildcats went home today with their second upset victory over the supposedly powerful Loyola Lions of Los Angeles in two years. They won 14-12 in spectacular fashion before 15,000 persons in Gilmore stadium last night.

Loyola had the ball game sided up at 12-7 when in the fourth quarter a 15-yard holding penalty on a punt gave Arizona the ball on Loyola's 12-yard line. After denting the line for two yards, the Arizona battering fullback, Walt Nielson, flipped the ball on the next play to a sub halfback, Fariss Hardin, standing on the goal line. The Wildcats converted and Loyola's wild last minute passing barrage was of no avail.

The Lions had bowled the Wildcats back in the third quarter when Arizona pushed to the one yard line, first down and a touchdown to go. Nielson smashed in the one foot line and then the Lions reared up, and smeared the next three plays to take the ball on downs.

Arizona scored the first touchdown of the game on a 71-yard march on seven plays in the first quarter. Nielson flipped a lateral to Granco Smilanch for the 17-yard scoring run.

Loyola found Arizona's line didn't budge and scored via passes in the second quarter. Hoeveland taking a 17-yard toss and running 20 yards to the goal. The Lions drove 44 yards in nine plays for their second score in the same period.

The Lions were severely handicapped when big Jim Colee, crashing fullback, was cut on the forehead by a cleat and went out in the first half.

The PAY OFF

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD (NEA Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK—Big time intercollegiate football is getting more intense every year, and as a result Fordham's Jim Crowley hardly is on speaking terms with Jack Coffee, manager of athletics.

Well anyway, Sleepy Jim is moaning that Coffee did him wrong . . . by booking for 1939 the toughest schedule the Ram ever attempted.

After opening with Waynesburg, the Maroon proceeds to hit the road to gridiron suicide by tackling, in order, Alabama, Tulane, Pitt, Rice, Indiana, Saint Mary's and N. Y. U.

Don't worry, Jim . . . with young gentlemen like Len Ebelmont and Johnny Kuzman hanging around for a couple more seasons everything's going to be all right. Then, you will know of course, that Jock Sutherland and the Panthers bid farewell to Stebbins, Goldberg and Chickeneo this year.

Southwest critics don't know how Texas A. and M. does it. . . Homer Norton has the Aggies running plays from short punt, long punt, single wing, double wing, and Notre Dame formations . . . small wonder guards don't bump heads pulling out of the line at the wrong time.

COLGATE GRID OUTLOOK BRIGHTER FOR 1939

Look for an upswing in Colgate's fortunes beginning next year . . . it is highly possible that the Red Raiders will approach the form of those potent lads who represented Hamilton through 1932-34.

"I never had a team come along so fast in three weeks as this bunch did," said Andy Kerr, after his kids dumped Columbia. "We lack the necessary elements to be a great team, but we're a good one and will improve."

Kerr has a flock of sophomores and juniors who next year should fairly burst their seams . . . Incidentally, Kerr kept Sophomores Buck and Hoague, center and fullback respectively, in New York after the Columbia game to let them see how Mel Hein of the professional Giants built up a line.

FRESHMAN CAN PITCH, SO BASEBALL RESTORED

It is whispered that Pitt restored baseball to a varsity status because of Edgar Jones, prize freshman of Scranton . . . Jones, called the greatest schoolboy halfback in Pennsylvania last fall, is quite a pitcher . . . The St. Louis Cardinals have their eyes on him.

In the first 10 games played with Cornell, Syracuse not only failed to win but didn't score . . . Perhaps you've noticed that Jim Orange did a fair job toward evening things up last autumn and this.

When Holy Cross went to Pittsburgh to play Carnegie Tech it was the farthest the Crusaders ever traveled for a football game.

They call Bob Hoffman the best blocker Southern California has had since Ernie Pinckert . . . Experts say every Trojan play depends on Hoffman.

Cobb Lewis, Indiana sophomore halfback of Bicknell, Ind., reveals the most thrilling event in his life was the time the mayor declared a Cobb Lewis Day in honor of his last high school game.

Dan Elmer, Minnesota center, can toss a football farther than any back on the Gopher squad . . . 70 yards being a short peg for him.

Vance Adler, sophomore center star of George Washington University, had a summer job that consisted of leading dogs to the post at a San Francisco track.

Policitians are using football crowds to plug their campaigns . . . wherever you find a crowd of 25,000 or more, you usually see an airplane overhead with a trailing banner in its wake . . . "Whiffetree for Senator," etc.

Crushing a green Valencia team under a barrage of touchdowns, Tustin's potent Farmers rolled to a 14-0 victory in their Orange County High School league opener yesterday at Tustin. Reserves played the first half for the Farmers, and seemed equally as strong as the Tiller varsity.

The second string scored first in the opening quarter as Fullback Joe Kiersey broke loose for a 26-yard jaunt. Two more scores, one by Kiersey on a line buck and the other by Quarter Joe Osterman from the 3-yard line gave Tustin a 20-0 lead at half-time.

The Farmer varsity took only seven plays to ring up their first tally as the second half opened. Walt Linker went over the line on a one-yard mark after Hal Lilley had run it there from the 23. Frank Watanuki, husky guard who backs up the line, snared a Valencia pass and raced 25 yards to make another Farmer tally.

Quarterback Lilley made it 40-0 on a 9-yard smash. Coming right back again, Lilley raced over from the 2 for another score. The final tally came as Joe Osterman, reserve quarter, broke loose for the longest run of the game, rambling 55 yards just before the final gun sounded.

Valencia appeared big but inexperienced for the Farmers, scoring their fourth straight victory, and little trouble stopping the Tigers. Coach Russ Wilson's defending Orange leaguers used less than half a dozen passes, relying on straight power. Lineups:

BREA-OLINDAS DOWN ARGONAUTS, 9-7

Failing to break an old tradition of never beating Olinda, the Garden Grove Argonauts were handed a 9-7 defeat at the hands of "Shorty" Smith's Wildcats at Brea yesterday.

During the opening minutes Garden Grove marched to Brea's 40-yard line and James Kobayashi carried the swineskin into paydirt on the next play. Dick Hunt's kick for the extra point was good.

Again in the first period the mighty Argonaut machine rolled to Brea's eight only to lose the ball on downs.

But when the second period had gotten well under way, Brea-Olinda advanced to Garden Grove's 17. Richey then ran those 18 yards around his own right end for the Wildcats' touchdown. Fullback Johnson crashed center for the conversion, tying the score at 7-7.

Brea's final two points came in the third quarter after Richey punted from Garden Grove's 35 and angled the ball out on the Argonauts' two. Roy Hudson's return punt was blocked by Shulbert and rolled out of bounds in the end zone for an automatic safety.

As the final gun blasted, Coach Blanchard Beatty forces had made their way to Brea-Olinda's end-foot marker. On this last drive, which was accounted for mostly by Capt. Bob Ward. Koby once carried the mail for 35 yards. Then Ward smashed through center and was finally brought down by the whole Brea team after a 20-yard gain. Lineups:

Meet the Dons! DELATED DRIVE BOGS DOWN ON SIX-YARD LINE

Poohball stock of Santa Ana Junior college declined a few points on a "bearish" market today after the Dons frittered away a potential winning touchdown in the last five minutes here last night and thereby was held to a scoreless tie by an underdog Pomona eleven.

Eastern conference regulations penalize a team that is tied. Deadlocked games are computed in the standings as half-a-game won and half-a-game lost. So the Dons' Raider on-oh dropped Santa Ana below San Bernardino, Fullerton and Chaffey in the percentage column and made its task all the more difficult.

That the Dons might have won with their belated 60-yard drive was less consolation to Coach Bill Cook, than the fact that to take the championship Santa Ana must beat San Bernardino anyway—remember the Pomona setback.

And San Bernardino comes to the Municipal Bowl next Friday, fresh from a 6-0 victory over Riverside and two other conference triumphs.

Moral Victory For Pomona

Santa Anans, accustomed to victory, had to swallow hard to take the Pomona tie.

The Dons appeared the stronger team—allowing full credit for the Red Raiders' gallant defensive fight—yet never could generate a sustained scoring march. Drive after drive petered out with the goal-line in sight. Tactical errors in playing-calling were blamed by most of the "grandstand quarterbacks" but finally the Cookmen fashioned a running attack, smashed down to Pomona's six-yard line—where it was third down and four to go. At this point Coach Cook removed his "hot" combination, and the "new team" began throwing passes where running plays had been gaining consistently. Pomona broke 'em up and took the ball.

Passes Fail Again

With only two minutes left, the Dons got the ball again on Pomona's 46. Heinisch made four at tackle. Borden passed to Linds for a first down on the 25. Borden made five around end. Lynn Arnett was raced into the end, replacing Borden. Arnett scored two passes into the end zone and the Dons were through. Pomona froze the ball for four plays and the game was over.

Pomona had two chances to score; the first time in the first quarter when Fullback Jack Conington punted to Larry Monroy, fumbled a "fair catch" on the Don 48. A crack into the line and a pass failed to gain, but "Bud" Gray, Pomona quarter tossed a pass to End Earl Thomas who HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22.—Mutter, they'd like to choke those Hollywood haberdashers who never fail to assure every customer that some famous star "bought-one-just-like-it-yesterday." Silly notions: Garbo jitterbugging. After viewing the semi-nude photographs of himself that adorn Victor McLaglen's dressing room, I'm tempted to ask him if he used to be a strip-tease dancer. Wonder if David O. Selznick really is holding that "Scarlet O'Hara" role for Shirley Temple.

I should think Darryl Zanuck would consult an encyclopedia—and hesitate—before casting Tyrone Power as a 60-year-old engineer in "Suez." Growl: how much longer will that fine actor, Bela Lugosi, have to wait before the studios discover that he can do more than horrify? There's something inexpressibly silly about the inch-long, crimson fingernails demanded by Hollywood's style queens this season. Imaginable hilarious evening: to give a party for Filmtown producers and invite

Paderewski And Nolan To Screen

The chances desperate men, endowed with shrewdness, cunning and iron nerves, could take to make good his escape from "break-prison" Alcatraz Island, dreaded prison fortress, is the graphic theme of the thrilling new action-romance, "King of Alcatraz," which comes to the Broadway theater next Tuesday with Paderewski's "Moonlight Sonata."

Featuring a cast of film favorites headed by Gail Patrick, Lloyd Nolan and J. Carroll Nash, "King of Alcatraz" shows Naish the king of mobsters, seizing a whole ship at sea, forcing its loyal crew to change its course, and defying police to re-take him. The pirating of the ship by the gangster and his henchmen makes this a new kind of sea tale.

Music such as has never been heard on the screen before is provided by Ignace Jan Paderewski, world-famous pianist, who stars in his first and only picture, "Moonlight Sonata." The film has been skillfully built around Paderewski and his music. It opens with the pianist giving a recital in a crowded concert hall. Attention is drawn to a happy young couple and their baby daughter. Later, in his club, Paderewski tells the story of their romance, how it was nearly broken and how his music brought them together again.

For several years a girl named Holly Barnes has been Barbara Stanwyck's hairdresser, philosopher-in-ordinary and best friend. Last week she developed a severe cold and Barbara sent her to the mountains for a rest. On Monday, when Holly returned, she discovered that her seven-room bungalow had been completely redecorated—rugs, linens, silver, drapes, dishes, et al, and on the living room mantle was a note from Barbara, which read: "Dear Holly—Hope you like the new stuff and things." It doesn't take a profound psychologist to discover why Barbara Stanwyck is one of Hollywood's best-liked people.

An amusing feud between Clark Gable and Walter Pidgeon: During the production of "To Hot to Handle," Walter heckled Clark unmercifully about his love-making. "And they really you a great lover," he would snort scornfully after Clark has kissed Myrna Loy in his most romantic style. And Clark usually too phlegmatic to mind.

finally began to burn. "I'll fix him," he confided to one too many people. "I'm going to the preview of 'Listen, Darling,' and laugh out loud every time he goes into a love scene with Mary Astor!" "Listen, Darling" was previewed the other night and Walter made it a point to invite Clark. "In Glendale—a sneak showing," he confided. Clark, gloating in anticipation of his revenge, drove to Glendale. There was a preview there, all right, but it was a picture from another studio—"Listen, Darling" was being previewed in Hollywood. And Mr. Gable, more annoyed than before, is still planning retaliation.

The current newspaper stories about Garbo's return remind me of the press luncheon with which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer celebrated her first arrival. A publicity man introduced her: "This," he said, "is Miss Garbo—she speaks no English." Garbo took her bow. "No," she added, "not run vord!"

'LADY BEHAVE' IS SCHEDULED

With a plot that is brightly original, with a top-flight cast and expert direction, "Lady Behave!" comes to the Walker screen Wednesday and Thursday, featuring Sally Eilers, Neil Hamilton, Joseph Schildkraut and Grant Mitchell. "Young Fugitives," featuring Dorothy Kent and Robert Wilcox, is world news is offered as an extra attraction.

"Lady Behave!" finds Miss Eilers' sister in the screen story returning from a Mardi Gras celebration and slightly befogged by drink, announcing she has married unknown man. How Miss Eilers through assuming her sister's role as married to the unknown, saves her sister from a charge of bigamy, forms the basis for some fast action and exciting comedy-drama. The sister, not having had her final decree of divorce from her first husband, is saved when the second husband actually falls in love with Miss Eilers in a happy climax.

In "Young Fugitives," the blonde and beautiful Miss Kent has the role of a flip hobo girl with sharp wits and a sharper tongue, who turns out to be a regenerating influence on leading man Wilcox.

Comedies Billed For the Broadway On Next Thursday

With Wayne Morris and Priscilla Lane as its stars, the new romantic comedy, "Brother Rat," will open at the Broadway theater next Thursday. It is the picturization of the famed stage comedy that took Broadway by storm and ran for two years there with three road-shows touring the country.

It's a play about college life, the story laid in and about the Virginia Military Institute. It deals with the difficulties into which one of the cadets gets himself by entering upon a secret marriage, a business strictly against all rules and regulations. Not only that, but he faces parenthood, and instant dismissal from V. M. I. if the authorities get wise to him. The indiscreet cadet is played by Eddie Albert, who carried the role in the original Broadway company. Little Jane Bryan, the bride who has to be hidden away, "Rat" is the name for a freshman at V. M. I. and "Brother Rat" are classmates who go together through the four-year course.

The second feature will be "Youth Takes a Fling," a romantic drama highly featured with comedy, which features Andrea Leeds, Joel McCrea, Frank Jenke and Dorothy Kent. It is the story of a farm boy who, imbued with the call of the sea, goes to New York to get a seafaring job. Instead, he winds up as a truck driver, with a girl who wants to marry him on his hands.

THE STATE—"Man from Music Mountain," with Gene Autry, Smiley Burnette; also Johnny Mack Brown in "Flaming Frontiers," world news, cartoon and Charlie Chase comedy.

Sonja Henie and Richard Greene, above, shown in a romantic scene from "My Lucky Star," college comedy with music, which double bills at Walker's beginning tomorrow with "Three Loves Has Nancy," another comedy starring Robert Young, Janet Gaynor, Franchot Tone. Both are Movie Quiz films.

Fun Movies Billed For The Walker

A double-barreled program of humor and excitement appears at Walker's beginning tomorrow when Sonja Henie appears in "My Lucky Star" and Robert Young, Janet Gaynor and Franchot Tone co-star in "Three Loves Has Nancy." Both are Movie Quiz contest pictures. World news also is offered on the bill.

In "My Lucky Star," Sonja at an ice cream cone! A dazzling modern girl, having a modern good time on a co-ed campus, wearing swank clothes, keeping wild dates—that's Sonja as she appears in "My Lucky Star." It has songs and laughter which seems to sail through the air like ski jumpers and Sonja's magnificent "Alice in Wonderland" ice ballet climax is something to write home about.

Sharing honors with Miss Henie is Richard Greene, handsome young British actor, who gives a fine account of himself, while Joan Davis, Cesar Romero and Buddy Ebsen are featured in wide divergent comedy roles of the best type. The splendid support includes Arthur Treacher, Gypsy Rose Lee (Louise Hickock), George Barbier and Billy Gilbert.

"Three Loves Has Nancy" tells the story of a small-town girl who finds herself waiting at the church on the day of her marriage, sets out to find her missing bridegroom, winds up unable to make up her mind which of three suitors she loves and negotiates the bumpy path of love amid many comic situations. Guy Kibbee, Claire Dodd, Cora Witherspoon and Charley Grapewin lend able support.

Bob Burns Given New Star Rating

Booking of the widely heralded picture, "The Arkansas Traveler," to show at the Broadway theater starting a week from tomorrow was announced today by Manager George King.

Marking the elevation of Bob Burns to screen stardom, "The Arkansas Traveler" is an ideal vehicle for Burns. Too long has he buried his dramatic talents behind the mask of the rustic clown, according to preview notices, and in this new offering he characterizes a highly intelligent human who sparkles with down-to-earth philosophy and wit.

Burns is said to be a stand-out as the hobo printer torn between affection for the type stick and the call of the freight train. Second feature will be "Broadway Musketeers," an exciting melodrama of a big city and the fates of three girls. The cast includes Ann Sheridan, Margaret Lindsay, Marie Wilson, John Lital and Dick Purcell.

BEERY, ROONEY STAR AT W. C.

A new screen team is introduced in the dramatic film, "Stablemates," now showing at the West Coast theater, and not since Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper appeared in "The Champ" has such a popular team been seen on the screen. The new team is that of Wallace Beery and Mickey Rooney.

Beery is seen in the role of a once brilliant veterinarian who changed to a race track bum because he was framed into a murder charge.

Rooney has the characterization of the stable boy and jockey who befriends Beery in order to get the latter to operate on an injured horse. One day Rooney listens to a radio broadcast and learns that his traveling companion is an escaped convict. Having learned to love Beery like a father, he tries to persuade him not to come to the track without letting him know the reason. Capture is certain if he does.

But Beery goes along. There they meet the man who was responsible for Beery's framed charge. He is the former owner of Rooney's horse and takes it from the boy because he can't show ownership papers. Then things really happen. Five champions of the turf are seen in the picture, Seabiscuit, Dauber, Specifier, Indian Broom and Lloyd Pan. Not only does the film show Hollywood Park, but gives sports fans a chance to see Santa Anita, home of the $100,000 Handicap, Bing Crosby's Del Mar track, and San Francisco's Tanforan. "Vacation from Love," with Dennis O'Keefe and Florence Rice is the second attraction.

Families in which facial resemblance predominates will find the greatest plausibility in the story of "Evergreen" in which Gaumont British is presenting its newest star, Jessie Matthews, and which comes to the State Wednesday and Thursday. "Danger on the Air," Universal's Crime Club mystery production, is second feature while Charlie McCarthy and Edgar Bergen are starred in the short comedy, "Two Boobs in a Balloon."

"Evergreen" is revealed with a spectacular musical background, involve the old Tivoli music hall and a modern theater over a 25-year period, is based on facial resemblance in a family. Harriet Green is at the height of her stage career in the film and decides to retire, then, from her past, falls a shadow which causes her to flee everything and seek seclusion. The plot hinges upon the taking of her place on the stage by her daughter who resembles her greatly, the deception and the startling climax when her identity is learned.

"Danger on the Air" features Nan Grey, Donald Woods, Skeets Gallagher, Jed Prouty, Berton Churchill and others. It sparkles with unexpected comedy situations which relieve the gripping drama and eerie mystery scenes. It is the story of a radio control room murder and its uncanny solution.

Lionel Barrymore and Jean Arthur, above, are featured with a cast that includes James Stewart, Edward Arnold, Ann Miller, Mischa Auer, Spring Byington, in "You Can't Take It With You," screen version of the prize-winning Pulitzer play, which is now at the Broadway theater. It was directed by Frank Capra, who made "It Happened One Night" and "Mr. Deeds Goes To Town."

'CAN'T TAKE IT' IS GREAT FILM OF YEAR; AT BROADWAY

"You Can't Take It With You," said by motion picture critics to be tops in movie entertainment of the year, now is showing at the Broadway theater. It is the screen version of the Pulitzer prize-winning play written by Robert Riskin.

"You Can't Take It With You" is a heart-warming story of two families whose philosophies of life are poles apart. One family, presided over by happy-go-lucky Grandpa Vanderhof, lives merrily and somewhat madly in a carefree atmosphere of untroubled fun. The other family the social-conscious, money-grubbing Kirbys, are wealth worshippers.

The two families clash when the Kirby son and Vanderhof granddaughter fall in love. Tony Kirby, not so dollar-bound as his father nor so class-conscious as his mother, believes his parents are genuine at heart and only synthetic stuffed shirts. He hopes that contact with the Vanderhofs will change their attitude toward his marriage with Alice. But the meeting of the two families is marked by an exhibition of typical Vanderhof good humor which winds up with everybody, the Kirbys as well as the Vanderhofs, in jail on suspicion of anarchy.

Lionel Barrymore is peerless as Grandpa Vanderhof. Jean Arthur supplies a perfect performance as the light-hearted granddaughter, Alice, and James Stewart has the finest role of his career as Tony Kirby. Such players as Edward Arnold, Ann Miller, Mischa Auer, Spring Byington, H. B. Warner, Mary Forbes, Samuel S. Hinds and Donald Meek also are featured.

Shirley is cast in "Stowaway" as the daughter of an American missionary in China, orphaned in a bandit raid. Going to Shanghai, Shirley is adopted by a wealthy playboy, who becomes her guardian. The plot, filled with action and humor, is centered about Shirley's success in helping her guardian win the hand of a girl who has been promised to another. In support of the brilliant stars, Eugene Pallette, Helen Westley, Arthur Treacher, J. Edward Bromberg, Astrid Allwyn and Allen Lane lend outstanding support.

Chapter 2 of the new serial, "The Secret of Treasure Island," starring Don Terry and Gwen Gaze, complete the program.

Two of the most talented children in the entertainment business combined their highly specialized effort in the making of "Breaking the Ice," coming soon to the Broadway theater. These children are eleven-year-old Bobby Breen and six-year-old Irene Dare.

Breen, the star of the picture, and a top-ranking singer of radio and screen, sing five new numbers, in a story which has an appeal to youngsters and adults. Miss Dare, who is making her screen debut in "Breaking the Ice," is known throughout the Middle West as the "Baby Sonja Henie."

Today's Wedding Group Has Rehearsal After Enjoyable Party

That group of charming young people who are to figure in the wedding this afternoon at 4 o'clock of Miss Katherine Holman and Homer Wilbur Kerley, had their final festive pre-nuptial party last night when Miss Holman's parents, Dr. Calvin E. Holman, pastor of First M. E. church, and Mrs. Holman complimented them in advance of the bridal rehearsal.

Everything was quite informal, although Mrs. Holman made her home, 613 Spurgeon street, very charming indeed with roses in artistic arrangement. Cake, ice cream and coffee were served before the merry group left for the church to rehearse for the wedding.

Dr. and Mrs. Holman had as guests with their bride daughter and her fiancé, Miss Holman's maid of honor, Miss Rosema Holman, and her bridesmaids, the Misses Marjorie Holman and Peggy Roseberry; Mr. Kerley's best man, Maurice Kerley, and ushers, Paul Taylor and George Helberg; Mrs. Victor Rees and Mrs. Irma Rutter who will provide organ music and vocal solos, and the Misses Virginia Hardin and Sarah Anna Grimes, who will assist at the reception.

Popular Anaheim Girl Will Wed Tonight In Los Angeles

Of general interest throughout the county, is the wedding to occur tonight at 8 o'clock in St. John's Episcopal church, Los Angeles, of one of Anaheim's most popular girls, Miss Sally Jean Newkirk, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Newkirk, to Gerald E. Boege, son of Mrs. E. O. Boege, West Orangehorpe road, Fullerton.

The formal wedding rites promise to be unusually beautiful and the church will be candle-light and flower garlanded. A recital of appropriate bridal music will precede and accompany the ceremony which will be conducted by the Rev. George Davidson, rector of St. John's.

Dr. Newkirk, who is so well known throughout the Southland, will give his daughter in marriage. Her loveliness will find perfect setting in her wedding gown of lustrous white chiffon velvet, with veil and flowers in formal arrangement.

Mrs. Dana Newkirk will be matron of honor, and she and the bridesmaids, the Misses Sylvia Diesner and Barbara McLaren, will wear graceful long gowns of supple black velvet and carry snowy flowers. Erwin Kruger will be Mr. Boege's best man, and Messrs. Robert Moffit and Theron Wilson will usher.

Mrs. H. D. Newkirk will wear a crepe gown in fuchsia shades. Mrs. Boege will also be in formal attire and both will wear flower corsages. After they receive the good wishes of their friends, the newly wedded couple will depart immediately for their honeymoon trip down into Mexico. They will return to make their home in Fullerton where Mr. Boege is in the sporting goods business.

Miss Newkirk, who is a graduate of Anaheim high school, completed her studies at University of California at Los Angeles. Mr. Boege also finished at U.C.L.A. after graduation from Fullerton union high school.

Wait A Minute

'N the goblins 'I getcha if you don't watch out—we know next week end is really the time for witches and bats, but there are so many festivities calendared that these seasonal symbols came out early... Sigma Thetas will frolic at the famous Thomas-Deardorff ball tonight... Country club Juniors will dance the hours away starting early this evening... De Molays and Jubilee lodge members will be busy dining and jambooreeing their guests over at Masonic temple—Dick (Red) Horton and Harvey (Plating Works) Dittitt are leaders in the two respective (and respectable) organizations... Of course, there will be some broom riding and witch hiding next week end, what with Boot and Spur club giving a costume dance at Ye Country club on Saturday night—Bernie and Walt (Cement Contractor) Markel planning a hay ride... Woman's club Evening Social section box suppering out at Margaret (Mrs. E. O.) Ahern's... Speaking of Woman's club, Martha (Mrs. G. V.) Linsenbarch is organizing a cookbook, which Philanthropy section is publishing to raise funds—Mmm, some of the choicest recipes are included!

Nice study in contrasts is offered by Betty (Mrs. Frederick) Pinkston, clad in sweater, short skirts, socks and brogues, with school-books under her arm, flying from Jaycee classes—and that same Betty, hair dressed high in round curls, tricky little hat cocked impudently over her eyes, wearing an afternoon frock, playing the young matron at a bridge tea... Isn't Bettie (Sigma Theta) Timmons one of the most poised young mannequins you've ever seen?—we liked especially the high-on-head arrangement which she wore at Ebell style show a week ago... George (Rankin's) Spielman snuck in at the side door to get a peek at the review... Look (Mrs. O. H.) Barr and her two dotters, Kay (Mrs. D. W.) Atherton and Frances (Mrs. Horace) Mickley attended the show together—mama looking especially lovely, and the two girls viddy viddy swank in fur coats... Gwen (Librarian) Griffin, one of the graceful models at the review, has secured Clarence Williams and his Knights of Swing to play for Junior Ebell dance Saturday night, November 19... Florence Wariner and Spouse Verle (Dairyman) Smith are eagerly awaiting the time when work begins on that honeymoon home which they are planning... Blanche and John (Teacher) McCoy getting ready for a long hard winter by washing windows at that pretty home of theirs

Melvin (Realtor) Trickey must be an absent-minded sort of gent—anyhow saw him scoop up some loose silver when paying his luncheon check 't'other day and leave the eatery in a brown study—only to return after some two or three minutes, for the rest of his change—which was several bills—probably of the popular dollar variety... We can just see Norma (Vivacious Blond) en route to Jaycee while listening to an L. A. studio broadcast which she she requested... The amusement occasioned by someone's artless query as to what bleat Miriam ("Sam-mie") Mrs. Carleton Smith uses on that sunny hair of hers... Maybe you think Thyra (Mrs. Leonard) Swales wasn't chagrined when she left a luncheon at Danvers 't'other day, to find her car with that ominous red ticket on it—and the possessive ossifier just disappearing round the corner—and to think, Thyra has been doing jury duty... Just a minute, Cassius (D. D. S.) Paul—you can't cross the street against the signal... When one doesn't have time to grow flowers for one's self, it certainly is nice to live close to Elsie (Wizard with Pies) Sharp and not only see her marvelous flowers, but share in them too... One of the most decorative effects we've seen recently was Bessie Beth (Museum Curator)—Mrs. F. E. Coulter in that tulle frock with matching hat in all tones of rose.

We can't dwell on past glories too much, but can't forbear telling you that one of the nicest things ever said of our fair city, was the remark made by Ezio (Met. Opera Basso) Pinza to Cecile (Musical Arts Prexy)—Mrs. Thomas Willits: For following the after-concert supper which he attended, Pinza said, "I feel that for the first time, I have known the real America... It's 'Rolling down to Rio' for May and Nelson T. (Orange Bank Prexy) Edwards. "Nelse" writes back that they had a nice voyage, but that everybody aboard was either Spanish or English—and he couldn't understand either! In Rio de Janeiro, May and Nelse were to be received by those other Orange ramblers, Keller (Ins. Agency Prexy) Watson and Alfred (Rancher) Leech, who are gridding the globe on a freighter... E. W. (D. S.) Dean and children, Richard and Juliana admit that they sharpened the can opener for use during the absence of Frau and Mama Kathleen (Women's Club) Dean, just home from Michigan... "As clean as a pin" was the way in which Agnes (Mrs. J. N.) Buck walter found her house when she returned from two months in Illinois—just Spouse J. N.'s way of saying "welcome home"...

Eleanor (Mrs. Robert) Northcross charming in an all white costume at the Pinza concert... Vera (Mrs. John) Backus razzing Vivian and Frank (Postmaster) Harwood about their late arrival—Vivian, by the way, has the prettiest coppernude tresses... Paulita and John (Dr. Pepper) Allen enjoying Spanish luncheon 't'other day at Woman's club fair... Since to know Zafuhi (Dramatic Soprano) Elmassian is going to guest-stargain for Cantando club—didja know she is stand-in for Jeannette McDonald as well as more or less going to town for herself in moon pitchers?... Florence (Mrs. James K.) Givens, looks like she should be skipping to school along with those two nice young Jr. Hi sons of hers, instead of being a housewife and presiding the city League of Parents and Teachers.

MRS. KENNETH M. WHITE MISS RUTH MARY REICHSTEIN MRS. JAMES WESLEY DRIVER

MRS. JOHN F. HAYWARD MRS. LOUIS E. CLEM MISS KATHERINE TORRENCE MRS. WILLARD ARNOTT JR.

Miss Ruth Mary Reichstein recently provided Boot and Spur club sisters with a thrill by announcing to them, her betrothal to Walter Sorenson. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reichstein, 1033 Highland street, have formally announced the engagement, and the selected wedding date of December 1.

Expressing their farewell to Mrs. Robert Hoy, of Santa Ana Heights, who is moving to Los Angeles this weekend, members of a little neighborhood group assembled Wednesday in the home of Mrs. W. L. Copeland, Palisades Road.

With the assistance of Mrs. Earl Moore of Laguna Beach, Mrs. Copeland served a creamed chicken luncheon. The group chatted while sewing during the afternoon.

In the party were Mesdames Earl Moore, Glenn Cramer, Loren Crumrine, R. E. Dickerson, Ernest Forth, Verne Wentworth and Emma Hill; with the hostess, Mrs. Copeland and the honor guest, Mrs. Hoy.

Golden Wedding Brings Celebration For Price Family

Although their golden wedding anniversary was celebrated early in the month, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Price, 815 Lacy street still are enjoying memories of the occasion, and this week end will make their first visit to the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barnard of Los Angeles since the Barnards were here for the anniversary party.

Host at the recent golden wedding affair was Mr. Price's brother, Ed Price of San Luis Obispo, who passed his 74th milestone this month. The two brothers were reunited recently after a separation of 50 years, their farewell meeting having occurred on the wedding day of Miss May Morrison and Fred Price. Ed Price boarded a train on that day, beginning travels which separated him from his family.

So it was with special cause for celebration that 50 relatives assembled at Santiago park for luncheon served at long picnic tables. Featuring the dessert course were two decorated cakes, one in honor of Ed Price's birthday, and the other in celebration of the golden wedding day. There were flowers and other gifts for the bridegroom and bride of 50 years. Mrs. Price described her grey silk wedding dress, reminding a bit about the days gone by. Inspiring this conversation on the theme of yesteryear was a scrapbook displayed by one of the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Price, whose wedding took place in Kansas, lived in that state for many years while Mr. Price was in the restaurant business. They have resided in this city for 30 years, and are members of First Methodist church.

The couple's immediate family includes a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leo S. Price and son Warren of San Jose and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barnard and sons, Ralph Jr. and Dickie of Los Angeles.

Garden Section Guest Speaker Discusses Patio Planting

Increasing the enthusiasm of Ebell Garden section members in their favorite avocation, were the features of their meeting Thursday in Ebell clubhouse, with Miss Opal Scarborough, editor of "The Floral West" as guest speaker.

A pleasant introduction to the program was the delicious luncheon served by Mrs. J. C. Lamb and her hostess committee, Mesdames J. E. Liebig, F. E. Moore, G. N. Nielson and M. C. Williams. Needless to say, their table arrangement exemplified some of the flower possibilities of home gardens.

Mrs. E. A. Watson opened the program with her talk on new and rare plants, and assisted by Mrs. J. E. Paul, showed some fascinating specimens, including a year-around-blooming fuchsia; several specimens of Cladonias, and a new dwarf ageratum suitable for borders.

"Shade Plants and Potted Plants for Patios," were discussed by Miss Scarborough, who traced the history of patios from Spain to their adaptation to any modern type of architecture. She spoke of ferns, her own special hobby, including the gold-back, native to California; the various types of begonias; a new outdoor orchid that blooms throughout the year, is easily grown and provides beautiful blossoms for corsages, and an interesting bulb plant, cochin, which requires neither soil nor water.

"Lay the bulb on your dressing table or on a shelf and it will send out its blossom," she declared, adding that addition of a bit of peat moss would however, give better results.

Mrs. Fred Alden, county chairman of Garden clubs, was a guest, while of course the section claims as a member, Mrs. J. E. Paul, district chairman. New members received were Mesdames H. R. McBride, Ernest Madden, R. A. Tierman and F. L. Simms.

December Bride-elect Feted at Pretty Shower

Because wedding bells will ring out December 1 for Miss Ruth Mary Reichstein and Walter Sorenson, the bride-elect was honored last night at a pretty shower in the home of Mrs. Elbert Baumann, 627 North Birch street.

Flowers in various bright hues formed a background for other appointments. Shower gifts of miscellaneous nature were placed beneath a white canopy centering a table decked with white 'mums' lighted by tall tapers.

Three varieties of Chinese checkers were played with the result that Miss Reichstein received a cookie jar for scoring high; and her mother, Mrs. Frank Reichstein, a cut glass dish for second high.

Presentation of shower packages to the honoree preceded the serving of pumpkin chiffon pie topped with whipped cream and coffee. Each of the small tables was centered with a single white rosebud in a blue vase. Assisting Mrs. Baumann was Miss Dorothy White.

Included in the group with the honoree were the Misses Anne Day, Alice Boyd, Grace Swartz, Gladys London, Mary Van Voorhis, Lucille Rios, Ariene Sorenson, Nadie Wedel, Dorothy White; Mesdames A. H. Baumann, J. H. Johnson, Dallas Reichstein, Frank Reichstein and the bridegroom-elect's mother, Mrs. S. F. Sorenson, with the hostess Mrs. Elbert Baumann.

Informality Prevails At Mrs. Angne's Luncheon

That charming informality always so much enjoyed by guests entertained in the George F. Angne home, 701 Hickory street, prevailed once more on Thursday when a dozen friends gathered for luncheon at the invitation of Mrs. Angne.

Asters and petunias were used about the rooms, while a fruit arrangement centered the lace-spread table in the dining room. Following the delicious luncheon, guests enjoyed inspecting the many additions to Mrs. Angne's fine collection of old glassware. The trip which she and Mr. Angne took through the east last summer yielded many choice pieces which found prominent place in that lovely old walnut "glass cupboard" which houses the fascinating array.

Two tables of contract and a foursome of Chinese checkers afforded entertainment for the remainder of the afternoon. Prizes in old glass rewarded Mrs. John Bower, Mrs. Lulu Blackburn and Mrs. Walter Waldron in bridge; Mrs. Frank Was and Mrs. Milo daughters, in Chinese checkers.

Those enjoying the affair were Mesdames H. B. Sheppard, John Bower, E. C. Franson, Walter Waldron, Clarence Bond, R. L. Matthews, Warren Freeman, Paul Patton, Frank Was, Milo Daughters, Ruth Walker and Lulu Blackburn.

of Garden clubs, was a guest, while of course the section claims as a member, Mrs. J. E. Paul, district chairman. New members received were Mesdames H. R. McBride, Ernest Madden, R. A. Tierman and F. L. Simms.

SOCIETY CLUBS WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

German Theme Followed At Travel Section Meeting

Sharing a delightful program on German theme, and planning events for November and December, members of Junior Ebelt Travel section met yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Calvin Flint, 1927 Klatske Drive.

Kramer Rohlfisch of the Junior college faculty and Mrs. Rohlfisch were guest speakers, telling of their experiences during several years' residence in Germany. They talked especially of student life in Germany, where Mr. Rohlfisch studied for his Ph. D. degree.

Mrs. Flint and Mrs. Newell Vandermast were co-hostesses, serving apple strudel, candies and a special coffee in furtherance of the theme of the day.

Present with the speakers were other guests, Mesdames Clyde Higgins, Walter Bacon, Frederick Pinkston, Clark Sackman and Carleton Smith; with members Mesdames Arthur Wade, Quentin Matzen, Edmund Guard, Herbert Stroschein, Robert Guild, and the Misses Mildred Spicer, Mary Tutill, Martha Tutill, Elizabeth Smith, Carl Cogan and the hostesses.

The next meeting will be held Friday, November 18 in the home of Miss Mildred Spicer, with the new meeting time of 7:30 o'clock to be observed. The December meeting will be an evening affair December 16 in the home of Mrs. Guild.

Mixing Bowl

BY ANN MEREDITH

Informal hospitality should be as easy to the woman who likes friends and loves to have them in her house, as the simplest household task. Don't rack your brain about "what will I serve?" After all, your friends come to your house because they like you, not because they expect elaborate food. In fact, most people dislike rich heavy dishes late at night, so why not settle down to one food plan for informal get-togethers?

This idea works to perfection in a bridge foursome that plays each week: at the end of the final rubber the hostess makes a stack of hot buttered toast and a pot of coffee. These two things with soft spreading cheese and a tart jam or jelly are brought in on a tray, a cloth goes over the bridge table and each person takes a plate off the tray and helps himself to toast, cheese and jam, while the hostess pours the coffee.

It's as simple as that, so why not make the plan your own?

Tell us about your informal party food, or how you do some house hold task in easy fashion. In return for your contribution when accompanied by a stamped, return-addressed envelope, we will send you one of the big Calory Lists, and, if you want the calory value of alcoholic beverages, just put in a line saying, "include drinks."

Banana Fritters

2 eggs, beaten to a froth
1-3 cup sugar and
1-2 teaspoons baking powder,
2 tablespoons melted butter and
1-2 cup milk

1 rounded cup of flour sifted before measuring, then with
1-2 teaspoons baking powder,
Mix batter smoothly and test by dropping a little into the smoking hot fat... it might be a trifle too hot for frying. If it is just right add sliced bananas to the batter and fry by small spoonfuls. Serve with a hot lemon sauce.

Potatoes on The Half-Shell

3 good sized potatoes, baked
Salt, pepper, a little cream and a good deal of butter
2 stiffly beaten egg whites
Grated cheese

Split potatoes lengthwise, scoop out the pulp, mash, season nicely, then whip the beaten egg whites through potatoes. Pile back in the six shells, sprinkle with cheese and return to oven to brown and puff.

1 egg plant, peeled, sliced and cut in cubes. Soak in salt water 30 minutes.

Grind 2 boiling onions and 1 green pepper and saute until soft in 2 tablespoons butter.
Add 4 fresh tomatoes, peeled and diced and the diced egg plant.

Simmer the egg plant and sauce until tender, then add a dash of cayenne, a pinch of sugar and whatever salt and pepper seem indicated. If it tastes a trifle "thin," add more butter.

FLAPPER FANNY

By Sylvia

"Imagine giving a birthday party at her age!"
"Maybe it's to celebrate the tenth anniversary of her twenty-first."

Successive Guest Groups Enjoy Bridal Anniversary

This has been an interesting week for Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ozmert, 1215 North Ross street, for it brought to them on Wednesday, the 40th anniversary of their wedding, an event which occurred on October 19, 1898, in Greensboro, North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Starr Ozmert, son and daughter-in-law of the celebrants, had planned an afternoon and evening of sociability. This began at 1 o'clock when Stitches and Chatter club, of which Mrs. W. R. Ozmert escorted his parents into rived with a few additional friends, As Mrs. F. C. Prunty played Lohengrin's Wedding March, Starr Ozmert escorted his parents into the room and presented them as bride and bridegroom.

Bowl of Flowers
Stitches and Chapter members had selected a pretty flower bowl in ivory pottery as an anniversary gift, and each member added a flower to express her good wishes. Miss Mabel Ozmert, principal of one of the Lancaster schools, could not be present for the party, but sent a decorated wedding cake, which her mother cut to be served the guests.

Present were Mesdames Rollin Crane, Gustav Stumpf, Rita Mae Goddard, Mildred Ralls, F. C. Prunty, Lila Ackers, Ella West, Olie House, W. F. Hagthorn, Allie Ward and F. A. Wood, Stitches and Chatter members, and Messrs. and Mesdames Guy Maties and niece, Shirley Jean Fowler, Warner Reynolds, Glenn Oaks and daughter Jean, Edward Mahaffey, Gilbert Elliott and daughters, Miriam and Glenna Gail; Mrs. Martha Elliott (Mrs. Ozmert's sister), Mrs. Edna Gryboski, Mrs. Amanda Greenleaf, Mrs. Hazel Flaherty and daughter Patsy Lee, Mrs. N. H. Leonard, Kitty Jean McMillan, Messrs. Ralph Crane and W. G. Hagthorn.
Later in the afternoon, Costa Mesa friends were received, and all brought pretty gifts for the celebrants. There were two happy surprises also, a big cluster of chrysanthemums from an absent daughter Mrs. Orville Taylor of Santa Paula, and her family, and forty red rosebuds and a gardenia corsage for Mrs. Ozmert, from a son of the home, Paul Ozmert.

Again Mr. and Mrs. Ozmert entered to strains of the wedding march, and refreshments were served after the bride of 40 years ago, opened the gift packages. Among these were a ruby brooch for her, and a ruby scarf pin for Mr. Ozmert, from the Starr Ozmerts and their little daughter Faith.

Mesa Friends
Guests from Costa Mesa were Messrs. and Mesdames H. B. Woodrough, Dan Reich, Fred Watts, Vernon Coyner, Charles Ogden, Will Boyd, Mesdames Jennie Baird, A. J. Myreth, Dorothy Ayleman, Elizabeth Boyd, Harry Boyd, Mary Scruggs and son Jimmie, and Mr. J. B. Cleghorn.
Open house continued throughout the evening, with Santa Ana friends and neighbors entertained. Mrs. Starr Ozmert was assisted in serving by her brother's aide, Mrs. Edward J. Mahaffey, Mrs. Martha Elliott, Mrs. F. C. Prunty and Mrs. Hazel Flaherty.

The W. R. Ozmerts came to Orange county in 1908 from Greensboro, and opened a general store at Costa Mesa, which was then known as Harper. They had the first store building there and instead of today's thriving community, it was all a barley field. Later the post-office was built in the store and Mr. Ozmert was first postmaster under Postmaster General Hitch-

Birthday Party Has Halloween Fun

Each year Mrs. Starr Ozmert has planned a birthday party for her little daughter, Edna Faith Ozmert, so Thursday, when Edna Faith was ten years old, she had the pleasure of welcoming a group of her fifth grade schoolmates at Jefferson school, and other friends for a merry Halloween event.

All the children came in masks and quaint costumes, and each one had a game ready to play, following the plan outlined on the invitations. They ended with the old Halloween favorite of eating apples suspended on cords, and then enjoyed birthday cake, hot chocolate and candy. Miss Jean Ozmert brought a beautiful cake for Faith, with ten Halloween candles.

After the little maid had opened her birthday packages, the children again donned their masks, and Mrs. Ozmert, made rounds of the neighborhood before he took them to their various homes.

REV. HERBERT W. EZELL

is a native of this state, having been born at El Centro, California, where his parents have been engaged in the Air Conditioning business for many years. Rev. Ezell was converted during his schooling in San Bernardino, California, and for several years had felt a call to the ministry, whereupon definite preparation for that calling was begun. A few years after the completion of his schooling Mr. Ezell moved to Long Beach to prepare for the ministry, and it was from that city that he and his wife, after receiving credentials from the California Evangelistic Assn., began a tour of several Mid-western cities, conducting evangelistic campaigns and revival services. Rev. Ezell and his wife have served as pastors in Torrance, California, as well as this city.

Bethel Tabernacle Full Gospel

6th & French Sts.

A little over three years ago, Rev. O. C. Harms, as president of the California Evangelistic Assn., of Long Beach, together with a group of workers from his church, Berean Chapel, sponsored the founding of the Bethel Tabernacle and placed it under the leadership of Rev. D. W. McLain, who served as pastor for two years. After the resignation of Rev. McLain, the church was under the direction of a series of evangelists from the Evangelistic body in Long Beach, which in turn also sponsored the enlistment of the present pastors, Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Ezell.

Since its inception, the Bethel Tabernacle has witnessed a splendid growth, and in July of this year, was deemed worthy of the Setting In Order service as practised by the Evangelistic group with which it is affiliated. This service is conducted by Rev. Harms, founder of the group, together with an aggregation of officers of the organization, for the purpose of selecting and appointing a staff of officers and workers to assist the pastor in the execution of the activities of the church, and the placing of the church upon the status of a fully organized and established religious body, authorized to conduct its own services and administration.

At the time of the setting in order, several new departments were added to the Church and Sunday School, and since that date additions have been made to the number of departments of activity, due to recent gains in attendance.

Though it meets in one of the city's oldest church edifices, the Bethel Tabernacle is one of the youngest churches in Santa Ana. Its teachings and beliefs, however, offer no new Gospel, but rather an earnest adherence, and in many cases, return to, the old time Gospel of Christ. The Bible is accepted as the inspired Word of God, and is set forth as the guide in every doctrine of the church.

The parsonage is located at 512 French street, adjacent to the tabernacle.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

The Sunday School plays an important role in the functions of the tabernacle, as well as the youth group, which is called the Defenders of the Faith, according to the customs of the California Evangelistic Association. The school is conducted in the main auditorium and class rooms of the church each Sunday morning, under the leadership of Rev. Herbert W. Ezell. The Defender service is conducted in the Defender Hall, a recent addition to the church, with Rev. Edna Ezell in charge. This service is presented by members of the Defender group, who are called upon to conduct the singing, musical program, preaching, etc.

The Sunday School contributes regularly to the support of Rev. Irene Menger, a missionary to India.

At present, several improvements are being made in the interior of the church building, in connection with a remodeling program which has been under way for the past few weeks. Outstanding in this program is the construction of a prayer room, which when completed will enable members of the assembly to avail themselves of a convenient, private place to pray throughout the day as well as the night.

The Santa Ana Register is sincere in its belief that Churches form the background of the cultural and high ideals of the community in which they are situated.

The Register also believes that the City of Santa Ana is most fortunate in the number and character of such institutions in its midst.

We feel that these institutions embody many activities that are of interest and are deeply appreciated because of their splendid endeavors.

With these thoughts in mind, a number of Santa Ana Churches have endorsed this idea and with the co-operation of many Santa Ana Businessmen and the Register, are presenting these pertinent facts of which this page is the fifth of the series.—The Editor.

also a native of California, her birthplace being Fullerton, California. For the most part Mrs. Ezell received her schooling in Long Beach, where her parents made their residence after leaving Fullerton. Her conversion in Long Beach was a definite turning point in her life, for soon afterward she felt the call to preach the gospel. It was during her preparation for the ministry that Mrs. Ezell was married, and since the completion of her ministerial training in Long Beach, she has been active in evangelistic and pastoral work with her husband before coming to Santa Ana.

$30,000 LOAN BIDS REJECTED

ORANGE, Oct. 22.—Two bids for a loan of $30,000 to the city were rejected by the city council yesterday. The expected early payments by tax payers made it unnecessary for the city to borrow the money, it was stated. Bids were submitted at a meeting last week by the First National bank and by the Bank of America and were held over for a decision until yesterday's meeting.

Installation Due Nov. 1
The first installment of taxes is due November 1 and becomes delinquent on December 5. The tax roll of the city is $104,000. The first installment, including personal property taxes and special assessments is somewhat larger than the second half of the taxes payable on January 20 and delinquent April 20.

The Westinghouse company of Los Angeles, reduced a bill disputed by the city council for repairs to the electric fountain when it was first installed by $30.19, leaving the bill at $65.72 which was ordered paid. The $65.72 it was stated, covered mileage and other incidentals and not the cost of repairs.

Armistice day plans were discussed when an application was read regarding a license for an auto park for the day. It was stated by the Mayor, A. C. Bolce that the American Legion desired to have parking and everything free to the public as far as possible.

LEGION TO MEET
Mayor Bolce announced that the meeting of the League of Municipalities at the Orange Woman's clubhouse October 27 was open to the public and the amendments on the ballot would be discussed. Councilman Hollis Showalter stated he believed that but two men were needed at the city park during the winter as the grass and the number of flowers would be dormant. ### OLSON AND "HAM AND EGGS"

Now that the "Ham and Eggs" theory is not so popular, Culbert Olson is trying to contend that he is not a party to the "Ham and Eggs" campaign. In this connection, a photograph taken of the Democratic Headquarters for Olson over at Huntington Beach is evidence of the tactics used to get votes. In this photograph, under the big sign, "Democratic Headquarters for Olson," appears several pictures of Olson for Governor and a big sign, "Let's Have Ham and Eggs For Everybody. Don't Be Fooled."

Yet, Olson disclaims his connection with the $30 Every Week short cuts to Utopia. He seems to be all things to all men.

TIDE LAND OIL LEASING REFERENDUM

One of the 25 amendments to be voted on November 8 is what is known as the oil leases on state owned tide lands at Huntington Beach. The proposal is one to give authority to the State to go into the oil drilling business if they cannot make leases to pay at least 30 per cent. It is claimed to be revenue producing proposition but it would just mean more jobs for politicians, more inefficiency and unfair competition of private enterprise.

It would seem that it is somewhat similar to what Mexico is doing with the oil interests there. After the oil has been discovered at great expense, then the State comes in and appropriates it. If the oil companies had lost, of course, the State would not have put up their losses.

In addition to this unfairness against private enterprise, it would tend to very materially depreciate the tide lands for recreation and swimming and for good residence purposes. It would seem that people in Orange County, to say the least, should be the last to vote for this amendment.

RAIN BRINGS MEMORIES

Orange county's first rain of the 1938-39 season came as a refreshing shower to thousands. To the same thousands it brought the recollection of the disaster that descended upon the city and county last March 3, when flood waters raged and brought death and destruction.

There is nothing to assure us that unusually heavy rains will not fall again this year, general statistics on the matter notwithstanding.

The first rain of the year means that elements do not wait for man whether he hurries or is susceptible to dilatory tactics. There have been many expressions of impatience over the time that has been required for the proper authorities to accomplish work on levees that would mean better protection than was afforded this time a year ago against the ravages of flood waters.

Materials now have been purchased and work on the levees will be started this week it is said. It is sincerely to be hoped that the season's first rain will spur every available means and method of bringing about complete safety this year—the last, it is hoped, that such work will be necessary before security will have come through the county's great $15,000,000 flood control and water conservation program.

PICKETING RIGHTS (Indianapolis News)

The possibility of a closer definition of picketing rights is suggested in the declaration of Lester Washburn, a regional director of the United Automobile Workers of America, that he will appeal his conviction on a charge of having "interfered with a workman in pursuit of his lawful vocation," to the United States Supreme court. Washburn was accused of having directed a line of pickets armed with clubs who prevented employees from entering a factory at Lansing, Mich. He was fined $250 and costs.

He appealed his case to the Michigan Supreme court and asked for a rehearing. This was denied. He now intends, according to his statement, to appeal his conviction to the United States Supreme court.

Washburn's defense is not an attempt to justify mass picketing and resort to force in blocking the highways, trespassing on property and preventing men from going about their lawful work. It seems to be conceded by all concerned that this is not picketing within the meaning of any statute. It is a clear violation of the laws against threat, force and assault, and no responsible agency attempts to defend it. There is no higher court decision under which this unlawful exercise of the privilege of peaceful picketing can be defended.

It is the contention of Washburn that he cannot be convicted of interfering with other workmen when the evidence showed that he was not engaged in the picket duty himself. His attorneys argued that since he was accused only of directing the picketing, and not of participating in it, he was not guilty of unlawful picketing. The question is important, for the Washburn defense implies a belief that a strike leader who directs a mass picketing operation, yet who does not actively engage in it himself, has no responsibility in the matter. If the court should hold that his relationship with active pickets amounts to a conspiracy to restrain workers from going about their lawful employment, the position of organizers and others who incite their followers to violence in an effort to force their will upon employers or other employees will be clearly understood, and the problem of controlling unlawful picketing will be considerably simplified.

BOOKS TO FIT THE PATIENT (New York Herald Tribune)

This new science of "bibliotherapy," or treatment by books, as expounded by Dr. Gordon R. Kamman, of the University of Minnesota, at the convention of the American College of Surgeons, has many elements of plausibility, probably because it coincides with ordinary experience. The idea is that certain patients, suffering from certain diseases, should be careful not to read books which might increase their depression, excite them unduly or set them off on trains of thought which might be bad for them. On the other hand, certain other books, according to this theory, might prove highly beneficial. That sounds logical enough, although we fear that bibliotherapy never will turn out to be an exact science.

It is a difficult field. For example, some persons are addicted to reading detective stories as a soporific; others can't put a good detective story down until they have finished it, and it leaves them exhausted from excitement. Let us take a hypothetical case: Mr. X, a forty-year-old New York lawyer,

"RUSSIA'S GREAT PLAN BOGS DOWN"

There has been many conflicting reports about the progress of Russia. I recently read a book by William Baxter, published in August of this year, in which Baxter contended that Russia was making great progress. He used the statistics of J. H. Lewis, statesman, distinguished military leader, envoy and author, to show increase in production of steel ingots and castings in Russia and other countries. The figures indicate that Russia's steel ingots and castings had increased better than three times from 1929 to 1937.

Now, I have just read an article in Barron's Weekly, by an Englishborn newspaper correspondent who lived for 30 years within, or close to, Russia.

This tells quite a different story.

The Barron's article points out that there had been a purge in the Chief Department of Statistics in Russia about a year ago. The statistics produced and presented to the government during the last few years have been found unsatisfactory.

As to steel production, the Barron writer contends that the quality is very poor. As an illustration, he says: "Kaganovich, holding the double post of Minister of Heavy Industry and Minister of Railroads, stated in Gudok, his official journal, on August 23 that on the 800-mile Krasnoyarsk railroad track there had been 913 cases of rails breaking during traffic in the first half of 1938."

This English writer points out that there is less grain produced now than there was in the past. He says, "the official statistics—unlikely to err on the side of pessimism—show that since 1929 the total of horses in the Soviet Union has been reduced by more than half, to 16,200,000 from 34,637,900; that the Soviet Union has supplied 400,000 tractors but the failure to deliver spare parts, general mismanagement and the haphazard distribution of fuel and oil, have produced an indescribable muddle which cannot be corrected by the OGPU's system of terrorizing culprits and scapegoats. The result is that to satisfy the bare needs of the people Russia should be an importer, not an exporter of grain this year and for some years to come. Production is less both in area and yield even than it was three years ago, though the population is estimated to have increased by 10,000,000 in this period."

The author says that the total amount of cotton goods produced today is only about half the quantity per head of the population of that produced by pre-war Russian industry in 1913.

Oil Scarce

The contributor has the following to say about oil: "It is certain, that if the Soviet Government adheres to the main lines of its present economic and military structure it will have to import vast quantities of oil—the distribution of which will further strain the inefficient transport system. For the output of oil in Russia in the near future cannot cope with the needs of mechanized agriculture and the mechanized army. The mistake of making both dependent on oil fuel in advance of adequate supplies must already be gravely disquieting to the more sober brains among Soviet leaders, for, in case of war, the fighting forces must quickly run short of fuel; or agriculture, which is already limping badly, be reduced to crippledness, crying out for the 17,000,000 horses so rashly destroyed during the first delirium of collectivization and mechanization."

Judging from this writer, the conditions in Russia have not improved as many other writers have claimed. It is extremely difficult to get the facts, but Mr. R. O. G. Urch, the contributor to Barron's who lived in Russia, should be fairly authentic.

"IT WOULD BE TOO BAD"

Elmer F. Andrews, Wage and Hour Administrator, in an interview is quoted as saying that "if they should make a mistake, it would be too bad." This is referring to whether an employer is covered by the new so-called fair labor standards act that goes into effect October 24. When the Administrator makes a statement like this, it sounds as if we were in Russia rather than in the United States.

Administrator Andrews will not tell in advance whether an employer is covered by the law or not and the employer is to guess.

It sounds as if Hugh Johnson were again cracking down on employers.

We are drifting more and more to the totalitarian state and we have lost so much of our liberty that we do not even recognize any more what liberty means.

graduate of Groton and Harvard, is in the hospital suffering from stomach ulcers, hypertension and an infected sinus. Would the detective novels of Agatha Christie be good or bad for him? We wouldn't know and we doubt if the most accomplished physiotherapist on earth could tell beyond a reasonable doubt.

On the other hand, there are other cases where, even to a layman, the prescription might not be hard to make. A moment's thought should be enough to make any one agree that in certain diseases the reading of a highly erotic bit of fiction might prove harmful. Likewise, it is easy to follow Dr. Kamman when he says that "when depressed the human mind is facilitated for discouraging ideas, and to supply these ideas through improperly selected reading obviously is bad."

APOLOGY FOR SUCCESS

By Channing Pollock (American Mercury)

Last spring an agent of one of our biggest corporations approached me with the suggestion that I preside over a radio program of the usual nonsense. I replied that the proposed broadcasts would be a waste of their time and mine; that when I opened my mouth, or took up my pen, I always hoped it might be to say or write something that seemed important. To my surprise, the agent agreed with me, and asked what I would like to say.

"Let me talk about business, and what it has meant to this country," I answered. "It's time somebody corrected the prevailing idea that anyone with two dollars is a malefactor of great wealth, and Public Enemy Number One. Your company supplies an excellent argument to the contrary. We can use it as an example of fairness to employees and patrons, with a long record of honest service."

My suggestion was relayed to the corporation's executives, and, in due season, rather timidly approved. I must realize, the executives said, the danger of offending Washington, or Albany, or any one in authority between there and the New York City Hall, but, if I could avoid any reference that the most thin-skinned statesman might regard as political, or implication that one human being might be superior to another, they would be inclined to take a chance. The safest agreement, they thought, would be for a sample broadcast, to be heard only by themselves, and, before that, would I submit a

I admit that I'm the head of a big business, and a friend of mine, who began as an office boy and became a celebrated engineer, flushed crimson when I spoke of his yacht. "It isn't really a yacht," he protested; "only a rather large sailboat. My sons and I run it ourselves, and I probably shouldn't have had it, but that my lawyer proposed my taking it for a bad debt." We have fallen in with those melodramatists whose villains used to be bankers and landlords who wanted their rent, and with the Old Hindu-New Deal conception of a saint as an unfed, unclothed, and unwashed person who sits all day contemplating his navel.

This is the whirlwind created by hot air in Washington. Whatever the White Father really believes—or believed, before he discovered the preponderant voting power of the Have-Nots—almost everything he has done with our capital has been in favor of unfitness and opposed to any form of achievement. I mention "our" capital, rather than his, because open-handedness, with their own funds, appears to be somewhat restricted among the Roosevelts. An author friend of mine calls my attention to the fact that in the photostat reproductions of his tax returns, Jimmie Roosevelt admits that, with a net income of $20,000 a year, he once gave $17 to charity—in 1934—and, the next year, feeling extra generous, he gave $27. Anything the White Father says or does, of course, excepts all the Roosevelts. At the very start, it must be understood that impugning the "profit motive" never meant profit from selling insurance or syndicate literature, and that Princes of Privilege and Economic Royalists at the tax-payers' expense, and are emphatically not those who live upon inherited acres in the vicinity of Hyde Park.

The Communist hobo was bewailing his fate. "These hogish capitalists!" he said. "Why, if I had my rights I'd be ridin' in my own carriage as I did before."

"Yes," said his Irish companion, "but your own nither couldn't push you now."

"I've no sympathy for a man who beats his wife," a big, red-faced traveling salesman announced in the Pullman smoker.

"Well," said a timid little husband, "a man who can beat his wife doesn't need sympathy."

A chorus girl vigorously refused an actor who had proposed to her for the 20th time.

"Look here, I wouldn't marry you if you was the last man on earth. I don't want nothing to do with you. Is that plain English?"

"It's plain enough, my dear," replied the actor. "But, you know it isn't English."

Those newspaper readers who believe that newspapers are not above coloring political news will find food for thought in the following announcement of a Southern paper when it changed editors:

"We, therefore, announce that hereafter our policy, politically, shall be independent. On all other questions we will endeavor to print the truth."

"I believe you are thinner than the last time I saw you, Mrs. Smith. Are you taking treatments or dieting?"

"Oh, no, that's only because of

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—After what has happened in steel, don't ask any official around here about prices, unless you want to get dizzy too.

Favorite topic of the Washington economists and politicians was prices—up to Wednesday. To them prices have been, at different times, too low, too high, out of line. To clean up what they call "non-rigid" and "monopolistic" prices, the current anti-monopoly investigation was started—and the price they were after more than any other was the non-rigid (some said monopolistic) price of steel.

Well, they got what they wanted last week, only to find out they did not want it. The "non-rigid," "monopolistic" price of steel broke. In fact it broke twice, first down $4 a ton on auto sheets (about 8 per cent) and then later (about $2 for a total of $6). Instead of cheering from the anti-monopoly section here came only official silence.

Twenty-four hours later, the "non-rigid," "monopolistic" steel price went back where it started from. Cuts were eliminated. While this should have brought a chorus of boos, the previous silence was only amplified.

The key to this strange series of political phenomena may be found in a generally unreported statement issued by one who may be said to have an interest in the steel industry himself—Mr. Philip Murray, CIO's spokesman in steel, right hand man to John Lewis.

In a public statement at Cleveland Mr. Murray let it be known he thought the cutting of the non-rigid steel price was awful. His exact words were: "We challenge the steel industry to assume leadership. The federal administration should offer its aid and co-operation to the industry to avert the certain consequences which must follow from the present conditions in the industry. If the steel corporations cannot put their own houses in order, it is the avowed purpose of the organized steel workers to promote a constructive legislative program that will adequately protect the interests of the industry and its workers."

That threat meant a Guffey coal law for steel as plainly as if the point had been specific. The Guffey law, as you know, made coal prices far more rigid than monopoly by the simple method of having the government proclaim them. What Mr. Murray therefore said was that if the steel industry could not control its prices and keep them up, the workers would go after legislation to compel them.

This was not un-natural. Mr. Murray knows that when prices go down, makes go down.

What must have bothered Mr. Murray particularly was that the industry, but not the public, knew the price cutting had been started by independents who have resisted CIO attempts to organize them. It was auto buying season. They thought they could undersell the big shots (which, incidentally suggests that if the

Each year enough carbon dioxide to make 160,000,000 tons of "dry ice" is produced by the burning of gasoline in automobiles.

Naufoou Island in the South Seas receives its mail in tin cans. Passing steamers throw the cans, mail overboard and a native swims out after it.

It is estimated that there are approximately 51,500 common carrier buses in the United States.

There are some 3,000 wood-burning motor vehicles in Europe which consume about 450,000,000 pounds of wood annually.

Funny Money

Last week we explained why California's proposed $30 every Thursday plan is unjust. In this article we shall point out other objections to it.

One objection is that the warrants are issued to the pensioners with the issue small they might circulate freely, but in fact the issue will be very large. Just how large no one knows, because it is not known how many people there are in California who are fifty years of age, are qualified to vote, have been legal residents for one year, and are willing to swear neither to accept employment nor to provide it (in the production of goods and services for sale). The Chairman of the Federal Social Security Board estimated that at least 1,000,000 persons will be eligible, and he is probably as well qualified as anyone to make the necessary calculations. Accepting his estimate, $30,000,000 in warrants will be issued each week, and $1,500,000,000 during the year.

Will these warrants, which are not legal tender, circulate at their face value? For a few weeks they probably will. Some people will be willing to take them, because goods paid for with warrants are free of the state sales tax (except the gasoline tax). Others will be willing to take them because the state income tax is not collected on that portion of the income that is received in warrants. Moreover, some merchants will accept them for a while, partly to increase their sales, partly to retain the good will of their customers, and partly because the warrants are made acceptable in payment of all licenses, taxes, fees, debts, or other obligations due to the state or its political subdivisions. The time will surely come, however, when the merchants will take them only at a discount, if at all. Merchants obtain a large part of their merchandise from outside the state, and they certainly can not pay in warrants. Moreover, warrants can not be used in making payments to the federal government in remitting to outside-state concerns for insurance, securities, periodicals, etc., and in travel outside the state.

The most assured market for the warrants will be the state (and its political subdivisions). This is a huge market, but not an adequate one, for the face of the warrants to be issued during the year will greatly exceed the total taxes, etc., due to the state (and its political subdivisions).

This brings us to the second objection to the plan—its disastrous effect on the finances of the state. The state will sustain a heavy loss of revenue because merchandise paid for with warrants is free of the sales tax (except the gasoline tax), and because income received in warrants is not subject to the state income tax. Moreover, what revenue the state has will be largely, if not entirely, in warrants, because the warrants are made acceptable at face value for all taxes, etc., due to the state (and its political subdivisions).

The warrants are not legal tender, of course, and can not be made so, because the Federal Constitution provides that no state shall make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts. And if the state and its subdivisions have no lawful money with which to meet their obligations payable in lawful money, they will be bankrupt.

Another serious objection is the tremendous burden of taxation inherent in the scheme. Every warrant before it is retired must have $1.04 in stamps attached to it. If the total issue of warrants is $1,500,000,000 annually, stamps costing $1,622,400,000 will have to be purchased prior to the maturity of the warrants. Advocates of the plan deny that this is a tax, but whatever the term employed, a burden of this amount is imposed on trade and industry.

This may truly, therefore, be called a "funny money" scheme.
